Credit Suisse Announces the Wales and West Country Finalists for the “Entrepreneur of the Year” category of the National Business Awards 2006

London, April xx 2006: Credit Suisse is pleased to announce the Wales and West Country regional finalists for the Credit Suisse Entrepreneur of the Year Category run in association with the National Business Awards. The finalists are; Neil Sherring, Managing Director of Windsor Telecom Plc and CollectorsPrints.co.uk, Robert Lloyd, Managing Director of Eatonfield Group of Companies, Peter McHugh, Managing Director of Covalent Software Limited and Gillian Whitfield, Patent Attorney and Managing Director of Astrum-IP Limited.

The Credit Suisse Entrepreneur of the Year Category is run in association with the UK's National Business Awards. The National Business Awards have been established to reward and recognise the importance of both national and regional business excellence to the success of UK plc. The Awards are an independent programme judged by industry experts and are sponsored by some of the UK's most forward-thinking businesses.

Charles Egerton-Warburton, Managing Director and Head of UK and Eire Private Banking for Credit Suisse, said: “We are delighted to be associated with the National Business Awards programme and would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all four regional finalists on their achievement.”

He added, “Credit Suisse’s private banking business has a long history of serving the needs of entrepreneurs and founders of companies across the spectrum of development. We understand their specific needs and seek to provide them with high quality investment banking and private wealth management advice. Our ambition is to support them in turning their vision into a reality.”

The regional finalists will present to a panel of judges in the final round for a chance to compete as a national finalist in the National Business Awards. The regional finalists for Wales and the West Country are:

Neil Sherring, 35, Marketing Director of Windsor Telecom Plc and CollectorsPrints.co.uk.
