FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Windsor Telecom is Runner-up in Regional Business Challenge

Windsor Telecom, the UK's leading provider of memorable telephone numbers and inbound call solutions, has walked away with the runner-up prize at the finale of a county-wide e-business contest.

The e-Den2 final at Bournemouth University on September 18th, was the conclusion of a five-month search to find the business with the most online potential.

Windsor Telecom marketing manager, Mark Adams represented the company.

"The e-Den experience was superb." Mark said.

"We received some extremely positive feedback from the judges and the e-Den audience about our new website, which we are absolutely thrilled about. A big hearty congratulations to both of the winners!"

There were two Dorset-based victors:

Me-mo, an online car accessory store, won the prize for the business that has made the best use of the advice given to it by the panel in the previous heats.

Car finance company, Credit Plus was commended as being the business with the most potential for development as a web operation.
